

Competition for Directeurs de Recherche positions at CNRS, Section 07, year 2018

Note to the candidates

Note written in Paris, during the board meeting on 14th february 2018.

Interviews conditions

- You must present an official identity document.
- You will be given 15 minutes to present your contributions and your research project to the jury. If you cannot speak French, you can give your presentation in English.
- There will be a computer and a video-projector in the room. Your presentation will be a PDF file delivered on a USB stick. In no case you will be allowed to display your presentation from your own computer. Please do not include any video or audio content within your presentation.
- After your talk, you will have a 15 minutes discussion with the jury members, that could include questions in French or English.

Advice to the candidates

The jury suggests you to present:

- your main results, positioned within their scientific context, outlining their originality, their interest and relevance to the field;
- your supervision and management activities;
- your research project, its scientific issues, and the methods you intend to develop in the labs where your research can take place.

On your USB stick, you may bring any complementary element for updating your application. All the documents should be in PDF.

Pierre-Olivier Amblard
President of the « jury d'admissibilité ».

Reminder

Interviewing or not all the candidates is a decision taken each year by the « jury d'admissibilité ». Being present at the interviews is mandatory, any absence, even justified, results in the elimination of the candidate.

The « jury d'admissibilité » or sections of the jury proceed to the interviews of the candidates. The « jury d'admissibilité » in plenary session then defines the ranked list of admissible candidates for each competition. The « jury d'admission » defines the list of laureates, based on this previous list. The choice of the host lab is not within the competence of any of these juries; it is taken after the end of the competition.